What makes Simon's approach different is that he goes beyond simply arranging funding. He works alongside business owners to help them understand how financial decisions affect profitability, cashflow, and risk. He translates financial complexity into clear, practical decisions, giving business owners and management teams clarity and confidence, having done so in his own businesses.

Real Experience. Real Understanding. Real Outcomes.

Simon understands the responsibility business owners carry, for their staff, their families, and their future. His role is to help remove uncertainty around finance, solve funding challenges, and support measurable, sustainable business growth.

Through Onward Finance, Simon provides more than access to funding. He provides clarity, guidance, and the confidence for businesses to move forward.

“

Simon's experience and guidance have been invaluable; over the past year he has helped us strengthen our financial planning, improve clarity around key decisions, and secure vital funding that has directly supported our growth.

One standout example was his support in obtaining finance for a major machine tool investment, which has already contributed to improved efficiency and profitability.

Jason Attridge, Production Director - Salesmade Ltd

From the people I've worked with.

“

Simon's support has been transformative for both me and my business.

He doesn't just offer theory, he delivers practical, proven insight that makes a genuine difference.

He's become more than a consultant; he's a trusted mentor.
